

Simplifying your EIA experience

We are driven by our passion to simplify complex tasks and increase productivity through innovation

Search area

Locate your search area using either a base map, aerial imagery or use the address bar to zoom and pan to your desired location.

Need to find information in hurry? Don't worry, we have you covered with the ability to switch on layers to quickly see if your location is in a particularly sensitive area.

Run report

Define your query area by selecting a line, polygon or circle.

Reporting of your query against environmental aspects will commence.

Various layers will be checked and you will be presented with an individual map of each constraint, be provided with clear information about the aspect and advice on what it potentially means.

Complete checklist

A variety of reports are available that reflect the different approval or exemption pathways under planning law.

The report options are intuitive and step you through the process with tick box options and free text fields.

If you can't complete your report in one go, you can save and return to it later, as well as have multiple reports active at the same time.

Start construction

Once your report is finalised and you have satisfied your compliance obligations, construction can begin.

Increase confidence in your processes and reduce the potential for error by automating your EIA process.

All layers are frequently updated, ensuring currency of information.
